

Our Excellent Manufacturing Facilities Lead to Top-Quality Products

Dried Bonito Tuna Flake Manufacturing Line

We condition whole dried bonito tuna to make them just the right firmness for shaving, then we use far-infrared radiation roasting on a portion of them to keep them from losing their flavor. We then pack them in inert gas to help them keep their fresh flavor.

Granule Manufacturing Line

Since the development of our granulated dried seafood soup stocks with no additives, which we first began selling in 1984, we have worked to create convenient soup stock seasonings, as well as granulated tea drinks, seasonings for lightly pickled vegetables, and other items to enrich customers' everyday meals.

Bagged Soup Stock Manufacturing Line

We combine the choicest ingredients and seasonings with just the right balance, then pack this blend into unbleached paper packs or other packs, one by one. We offer soup stocks in both additive-free and seasoned varieties.

Boiled and Dried Seafood Manufacturing Line

We bring our ingredients out of our refrigerated warehouse, where they're stored after initial inspection and grading, then check them once again and put them onto the feeding conveyor in the ratio needed. We then inspect the processed products before shipping them.

Kelp Roll Manufacturing Line

We roll each and every one of our kelp rolls by hand, and the careful work by hand continues through bagging and packaging each one, ensuring that our customers can truly feel the hand-made care in each one.

Firefly Squid Production Line

On this production line, we manufacture many different delicacies using locally-caught firefly squid and glass shrimp.

Company Policy

*Making products
with safe, reliable, consistent quality*

We specialize in food products, so it is absolutely essential for us to ensure our products' safety and reliability. Our quality control staff members perform strict daily inspections, working with our manufacturing floor to produce reliable and delicious products.

Our factory entrance manual states that anyone entering the room is required to wash their hands; wear a hair net, working cap, and working uniform; and finally remove all dust and debris with adhesive rollers and our air shower.
